January—Jimmie Allen

Jimmie Allen is a long-time northwest resident and currently resides in Bremerton, WA. Jimmie discovered woodturning during his semi-retirement as a finish carpenter. He joined the OPCA AW club in 2003 and was instantly hooked - he went on to serve 7 years as the club's Vice President of Training.

After experimenting with various wood turning aspects, Jimmie was drawn to the challenge that wood boxes presented. Since then, he has concentrated his efforts on improving technique, wood selection, design/shape and proportion. Through this journey, Jimmie also found another creative outlet - the design and crafting of box making tools that helped him to create his signature style of boxes.

Jimmie's philosophy is that we all start at the same place and it's important to keep it simple – "If you put in the time, you'll get there". He appreciates the opportunity to encourage and motivate people by sharing his experiences and techniques through demonstrations and sawdust sessions.

Letter from the President

I hope everyone had a great holiday season.
Happy New Year to each of you!

As we enter 2018, most of us begin the new-year with hope in this rapidly changing world. One of those changes, although minor, is that I am taking over as president of the SPSW from Pat for 2018.

This is my very first President's letter to the membership, and before I do anything else, I'd like to express thanks to all of you that have been active in the club this past year. That is all of you who donate wood, share what you have been turning at meetings, help set up and tear down, help others at saw dust sessions, buy wood at the auction, serve on the board, provide coffee, and speak at meetings. Your participation is what makes this club the viable, active, and sharing organization that it is!

I would especially like to thank Pat McCart, who has served as President for eight out of the past eleven years. Pat has done such a great job he has is very hard to replace. He has done so many things to keep the SPSW going, that I won't try to list them all here. I am very thankful that Pat will continue to serve on the Executive Board. I know I will have many questions for him in the next year

Also thanks you to the executive board for all they did last year, and special thanks to Jeff Marshall, Terry Broberg and Leah Young, each of whom has volunteered to serve on the executive board. The membership vote to elect them to the board will happen at the January meeting.

Thanks to everyone who brought food and joined us at the December pot-luck dinner. The food was great and all who attended had a good time! Special thanks to all of you that came early and stayed late to set everything up and put away the seats and tables. Your help was noticed and appreciated.

Now, as we enter now enter 2018, we have a lot of things coming up. I will work with the rest of the executive board to continue everything we are doing now, and a few things more. We will continue to monthly meetings and the sawdust sessions at Nancy's, and the new President's challenges. The board is considering hosting weekend clinics. If there is someone you know that would be good for that, please let one of the board members know, or just give me a call.

One of the biggest things coming in 2018 will be the AAW's 32nd Annual International Symposium, which is happening this summer in Portland from June 14th – 17th! Ex-SPSW President Dan Stromstead has very kindly agreed to act as our liaison. I'll keep you updated as more information comes in. This symposium is a rare opportunity to attend on of the biggest woodturning events in the world so close to home. We have several members that attend this meeting, and each of them say that it has been almost a life changing event for them. I'm looking forward to attending it. The host hotel will be the Double Tree by Hilton and the actual event will happen at the Oregon Convention Center. We will be talking more about the symposium, as we get closer to the event. I understand that there will discount tickets available, and I know that they will be looking for some of us to help with setup, introducing speakers.

In closing, I look forward to the coming year with all of you. I hope I can do as good a job as Pat has done in keeping the SPSW the vibrant, active and collegial club it has been in the past!

President's 2018 Challenges

We will continue to offer the by-monthly president's challenges that started last year. The first one this year will be evaluated at the February meeting, and will be a pepper mill or pepper-shaker. The design and materials are up to you.

I am gong to get input from the Board and will try to publish challenges for the rest of the year in the February newsletter.

Thank you!

I would like to thank SPSW for the donation of a used Jet lathe that now is in operation in West Seattle High school.

My son was in woodshop years ago and the lathe was not in operation at that school. I cleaned the old lathe and conducted a demonstration of the lathe and some of its basic features and proper safety practices when using a lathe.

The next time I visited the school, one student was turning a piece of hemlock. It was fuzzy and bumpy with parting tool marks every half an inch. The student finished the piece, pulled it out of the lathe and announced to the teacher across the room “look what I made Mr. Walters!!”

I have donated tools and wood to high schools in King and Thurston counties. A lot of wood that I have donated, was from the club and club members. I would like to thank the club for the Jet lathe, it was in use within a week.

AAW Tips for Woodturners

Support for Turning Bottom of Bowls

An alternative to the "wooden running pads" described in another tip: Take one of the plastic nuts that is used in some plumbing connections, such as the flexible connector that attaches to water using appliances, and place it over the end of the conical live center. The point of the live center does not protrude past the open end of the plastic nut and thus provides a small circular support surface at the wood project.
